Western Carolina University
Cullowhee, NC

. . . such as we were
we gave ourselves outright
(The deed of gift was many deeds of war)
To the land vaguely realizing westward,

But still unstoried, artless, unenhanced,

Such as she was,

such as she would become.

The Gift Outright
Robert Frost, 1942

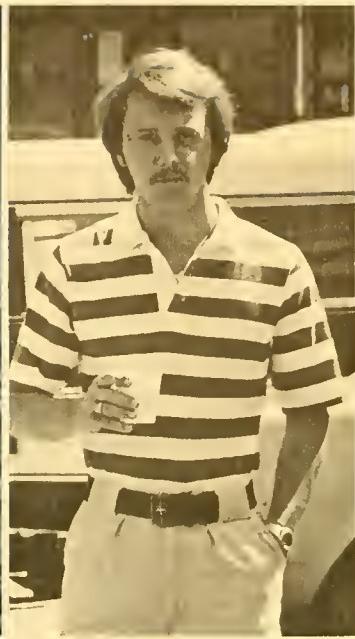

Western Carolina University has become part of the heritage of these mountains, so let us take a closer look . . .

"Let me see your permit to register, and your I.D., and your advisor-approved worksheet, and your schedule . . ." Every student becomes familiar with the hassles of registration. Waiting in lines, scheduling course times, and checking out the instructors is just a part of being a student at Western.

By scheduling students based on the number of hours completed, registration moves faster and seems more organized now.

The major exchange of ideas between professor and student occurs in the classroom. Sometimes this exchange can be hampered by the fact it is an 8:00 class, or else the class is at 2:00 on a beautiful day, and the professor can't seem to make that general requirement interesting.

Classes also provide the opportunity to meet people and make new friends. They create a common ground for conversation and discussion.

Living on or around a college campus has its advantages. There is always someone there to talk to or someone to share your ideas.

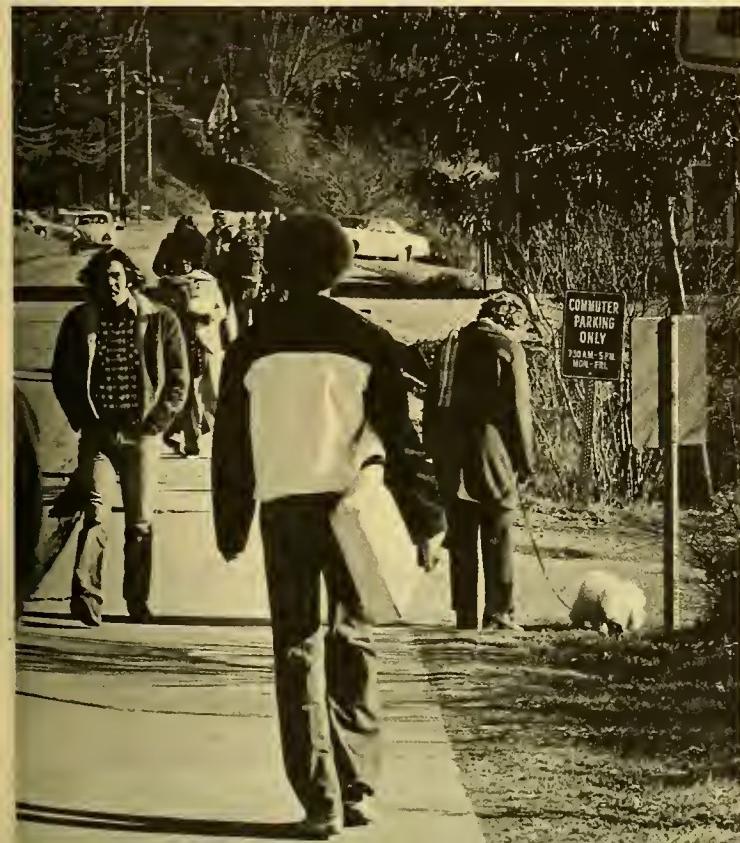

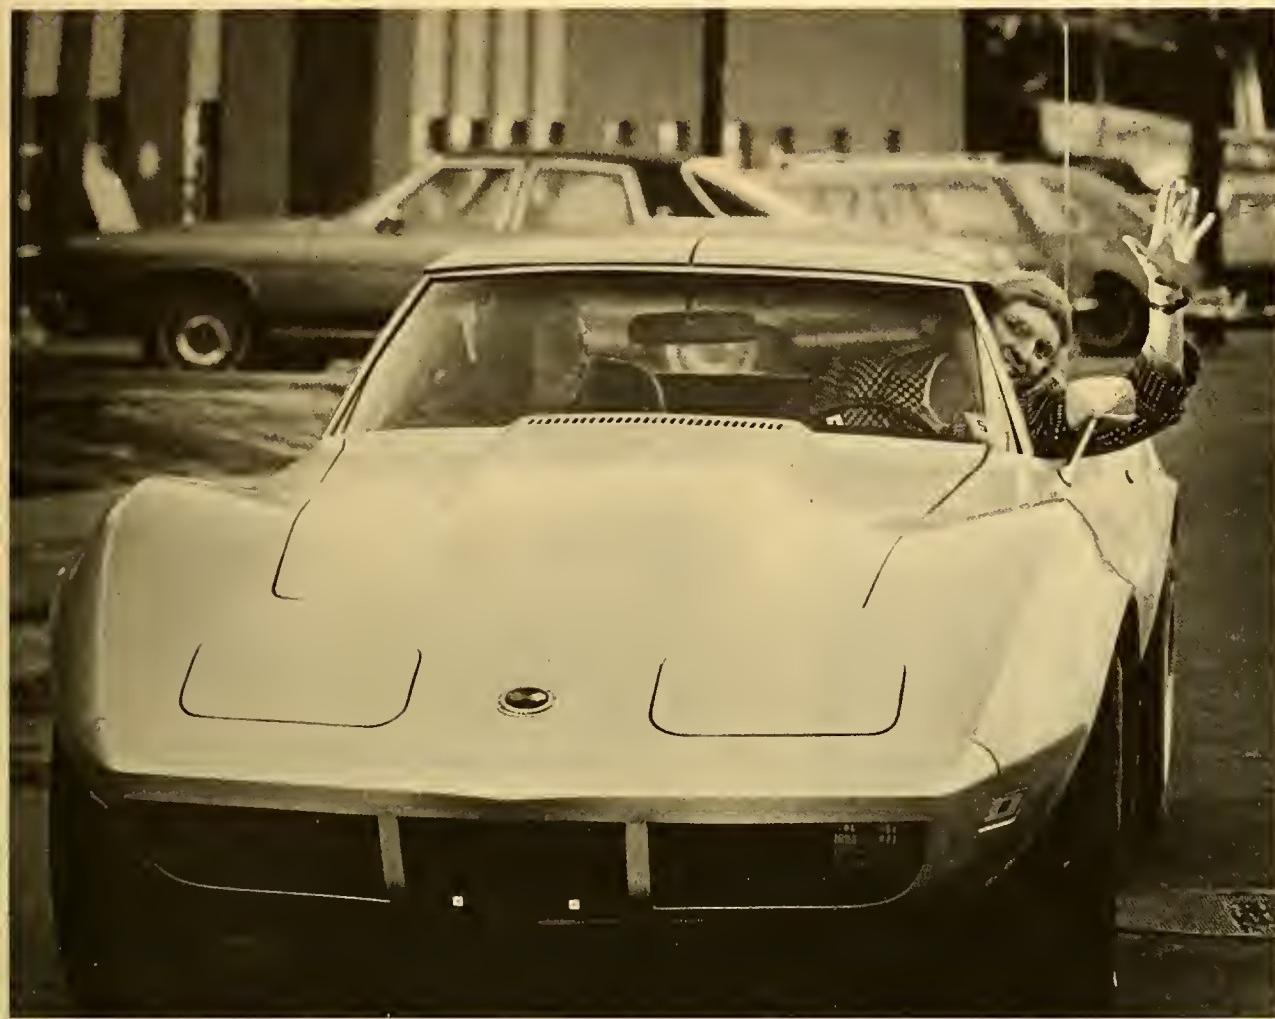

It is one of the best atmospheres for meeting people and making friends. People seem to be more friendly and open.

When you put five or six thousand different people together in one place called Cullowhee, there is always something happening or something unique to see.

People cannot really complain about not having anything to do. Sometimes it requires a little thinking and ingenuity, but all the ingredients for fun are here.

Homecoming 1975

Starting with a Cat's Prowl and Bonfire on Thursday night, Homecoming festivities included the Catamount Parade on Saturday morning. Leaving the old stadium at 10:30, an array of bands, floats, clowns, horses, and beauty queens wound through campus ending at Whitmire Stadium. Here several of the floats were left for display throughout the game.

Cat-A-Mountain
Heritage”

Homecoming Queen and Court

Widespread student participation with students voting for the candidate of their choice, resulted in the election of this year's queen. The winner was announced at halftime ceremonies of the Homecoming game, with a very happy Debra Busby crowned WCU Homecoming Queen for 1975.

Lambda Chi Alpha Beer Blast

More than 1,000 students turned out one sunny October Friday to consume 25 kegs of free beer and listen to music by "Streams". Sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha, the "Pabst Blast" was open to the campus.

UCB Fun House

October 30 and 31, 1975 marked the sixth annual UCB-sponsored Fun House. For only a quarter, students took a journey through a variety of gruesome, spine-tingling Halloween sights and sounds.

Miss Thanksgiving Womanless Pageant

Michael Harris was crowned Miss Thanksgiving before a full house in Hoey Auditorium. The pageant, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, was held in an effort to raise money for needy families in Jackson County. Admission to the pageant was non-perishable food, clothing or any amount of money.

Casino Night

Fall quarter marked the second annual Casino Night. Sponsored by the UCB, the night of dancing girls, card playing, dice throwing, hostesses, and music — Las Vegas style — was a big success.

Christmas Bazaar

The UC Grandroom filled with a Christmaslike air fall quarter, as organizations brought in books, plants, baked goodies, stuffed animals and other crafts for the annual Christmas Bazaar.

Miss Catamount Pageant

A near-capacity crowd watched as Brenda Darlene Holloway was crowned Miss Catamount/Western Carolina University 1976. Ms. Holloway, an 18 year-old freshman from Lenoir, was sponsored by Phi Mu sorority. She sang "Caro Nome" from the opera Rigoletto for her talent.

The successful pageant was directed by Ron Whittemore and Bob Self. There were 18 contestants who competed in evening gown, swimsuit, and talent. Bob Caldwell of WLOS-TV served as master of ceremonies. Special guests were Miss North Carolina 1975, Susan Lawrence and Miss Catamount 1975, Cathi McCord.

Miss Catamount 1976 will receive a $500 scholarship, an expense-paid trip to the Miss North Carolina Pageant, and various other gifts.

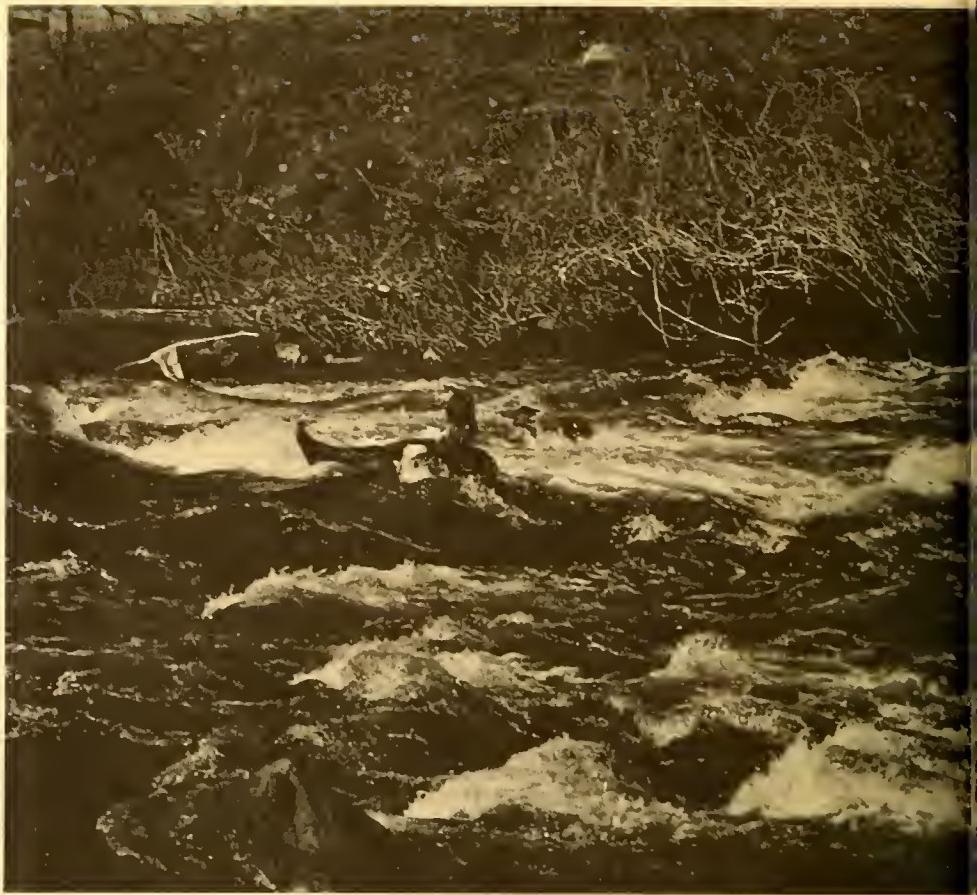

1. Jodie Hall — First runner-up
2. Carolyn Dempsey — Second runner-up
3. Patricia Whiteside — Most talented non-finalist
4. Charlie Mitchell — Miss Congeniality
5. Brenda Holloway, Miss Catamount 1976
6. Brenda, as she appeared on statewide television, competing in the Miss North Carolina pageant.

WCU Tubing Race

Twenty students plunged into the Tuckaseegee River in early February — the dead of winter — to compete in the Sixth Annual WCU Winter Quarter Tubing Race. The first three finishers, Richard Baker, John Pinkerton and Derek Hiscox, were then eligible to represent Western in the Inter-collegiate Tubing Race.

Intercollegiate Tubing Race

Competing in 37 degree waters and freezing air temperatures, forty-six students from eleven universities entered the Third Annual Intercollegiate Tubing Race. For the third straight year, WCU's tubing race team placed first. Western's team, composed of Richard Baker, Derek Hiscox, and John Pinkerton, took first, second, and fourth places respectively.

Teams representing the University of Tennessee at Knoxville and Cape Fear Technical Institute in Wilmington tied for second place. Southwestern Technical Institute finished third.

Black Week

Black Week began Tuesday night, April 20, opening with a concert by the OES Gospel Choir under the direction of Sam Gray. Wednesday night a film was presented entitled: The Significance of Malcolm X. Afterwards there was a panel discussion. There was a fashion and talent show Thursday night. Friday night was the OES pageant held in Hoey Auditorium. Saturday night's ball ended the week's festivities. Doris Connelly, a freshman from Valdese, was crowned Ms. OES for 1976-1977 at the Black Ball. First runner-up was Ms. Mozelle Johnson and second runner-up was Cynthia Haynie. Jeanette Newborn was chosen "Sister Love." The Magnificents, a band from Gastonia, provided live entertainment.

Other awards presented were: Fashion Awards — Janice Townsend, Mike Lovell, and Phyllis Shipman; Talent Awards — Jackie Gray and Patricia Whitesides; Mr. and Ms. Senior, as well as Mr. and Ms. Soul — Jackie Gray and Patricia Walton.

Student Government Elections

Western had a good turn-out this spring of candidates for SGA offices. Most candidates were well-qualified and had previous experience holding various SGA positions.

After vigorous campaigning, Walton Teague was elected SGA President, and Joe Yelton was elected Vice-President as the result of a run-off election.

Speed Week

Car Slalom and Bike Rally

The UCB-sponsored annual Speed Week got off to a good start with the sports car slalom. Twenty-two entrants tried their skills on the course set up in the University Center parking lot. Each entrant had three chances, and their best time was used to determine winners. There were three categories based on car size.

Tommy Trimble won Class A in a black Corvette; John Cooke, Class B in a '64 Austin Healy; and Hugh Green, Class C in a '76 Sirocco.

The next event in Speed Week was the bike rally. Entrants compete over a long and arduous course. Aaron Stevenson was the winner.

Motorcross

Speed Week ended with the annual Motorcross. Drivers compete in different classes in events that challenge their skills and experience.

Hike for Hope

Participants in Phi Mu's annual Hike for Hope walked $1,310.35 worth. Each hiker had sponsors who pledged an amount for each mile the participant walked. The route was twenty-five miles from the University Center to Cherokee.

This money will help support the medical teaching treatment programs the floating hospital Hope is conducting around the world.

Mountain Dance and Music Festival

The Mountain Dance and Music Festival did a lively job rounding out WCU's Bicentennial celebration. There was everything — mountain dance and music, from buck dancing to big circle, from ballads to bluegrass.

The celebration was in two segments. The first two-hour segment consisted of exhibitions of clogging, smooth dancing, and mountain music. Then came big circle dances for anyone interested.

Some of the featured participants were Virgil Sturgil, Eric Olson, Tommy Hunter, and Marc Pruett and his New Day Country Band. Master of Ceremonies was Glenn Bannerman, who has a national reputation for his recordings and workshops in mountain dancing and clogging.

Special Olympics

Over 400 persons participated in the fifth annual WCU Special Olympics. Ceremonies began with a parade of the athletes and the lighting of a Special Olympics torch. Following the national anthem and the presentation of American and Special Olympics flags, the contestants took the Special Olympics oath: "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

Participants were sponsored by the Cherokee Sheltered Workshop, by public school systems in ten western counties, and by the Cherokee Indian Reservation. Competition in most events were broken down by age groups and by sex.

Raft Race

Lambda Chi Alpha held their Sixth Annual Raft Race down the Tuckaseegee. Earl Curran placed first in the men's division, with Lambda Chi second. Alpha Xi Delta was victorious in the women's division and Sigma Kappa second. UCB's Steve Harrell won the Raft with the Best Design Award. Following the race, a nine-keg blast, courtesy of Pabst, was held at the Lambda Chi house.

Jackson County Recreation Department, the WCU UCB and the Cullowhee Wilderness Outfitter sponsored the second annual NC C-2 Championship. Canoeing enthusiasts from all over the Southeast competed in the 15-mile race. There were two basic race classifications: Intercollegiate and Open Division, with events for men, women, and mixed tandem paddlers.

Floods Close Campus

A continuous succession of heavy rains in Western North Carolina resulted in flood conditions. Many residents were driven from their homes; and the Tuckaseegee came up over 107, closing the road.

WCU students received an unexpected vacation. Extensive damage to the University's water pumps made it necessary to call off classes from Wednesday until the following Monday.

LINDA RONSTADT

Pictures could not be taken at this concert.

Andrew Gold and Goose Creek Symphony were included on the bill with Ms. Ronstadt. The concert began an hour and a half late, but this was forgotten as the music began. Anticipation grew as Goose Creek completed their performance — everyone had come to see and hear Linda Ronstadt. Then Ms. Ronstadt cut her performance short due to the behavior of certain members of the audience. She walked out at the end of her newest hit, Heat Wave.

October 20 - 25

Written by Joseph Kesselring in the 1940's, Arsenic and Old Lace dramatizes the extent of involvement of all the characters due to two "sweet little old ladies" and their idea that lonely, elderly men should be rid of their "misery" with a glass of elderberry wine and arsenic.

of Virginia Woolf?*

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf", written by Edward Albee, was a production dealing with people's problems and games. Nick and Honey, a young couple, are invited over to George and Martha's, and at the end of the evening, learn more about themselves and Martha and George, in the games that are played. The performance was excellent, all the acting was superb — making the scenes intense at times.

Campus Changes

Western has experienced many changes this year. Campus beautification has included landscaping with flowers and sidewalks. An information map was erected to help visitors. Work has progressed on the new science building — only a beginning of future construction. In an effort to retain part of the old campus, the area between Joyner and Madison, called Woodland Stage, was used for a few concerts.

Some of the changes are not visible, however. ROTC will be initiated into the curriculum next year. After many postponements, Western was finally accepted into the Southern Conference. A new counselling service was established on campus. Western is certainly a progressive institution.

The Catamounts worked hard to take a shocking 24-0 lead over Toledo at halftime in the opener and appeared to go into a rarely-interrupted sleep for the next eight weeks before they awoke in time for an equally-shocking second half rally that beat Appalachian, 20-11.

What happened to the '75 Cats? Western's personnel losses from the 1974 team were in terms of both leadership and ability. Plus, the Cats were plagued with injuries and the team was the youngest ever. But things are already looking brighter for the 1976 season. According to Coach Waters, "We might not make it all the way back next season, but we will be moving in that direction."

Western was hit hard by injuries. Seventeen out of the twenty-two players that started in the season opener missed all or a substantial part of at least two games — most missed three or more.

A moment of silence was held at the beginning of a game for Monroe Sanders, who drowned in a tragic canoeing accident early in the season. Monroe had played an important part in Western's 9-2 1974 season.

WCU 20 APP 11

Western met Appalachian State in the season finale. Despite the fact Western had been victorious in the past four meetings, the pre-game billing called for a "no contest" as the Mountaineers were coming off a prestige-building upset of South Carolina and their 7-2 record was the complete reverse of WCU's accomplishments.

However, it was the Cats' last chance to salvage something from a season that, to date, had been one big disappointment. Waters' crew appeared to have saved several weeks of effort for the finale as they held Appalachian State to its lowest point total and offensive yardage of their great season.

The Cats' head coach of seven years summed up the meaning and emotion of the upset by saying, "That win helped to restore everyone's faith in our program — the players, coaches, and our supporters."

JERRY

Anyone who has followed Western Carolina University's athletic program over the past five years realizes that student athletes like Jerald Anthony Gaines only come along once in a lifetime.

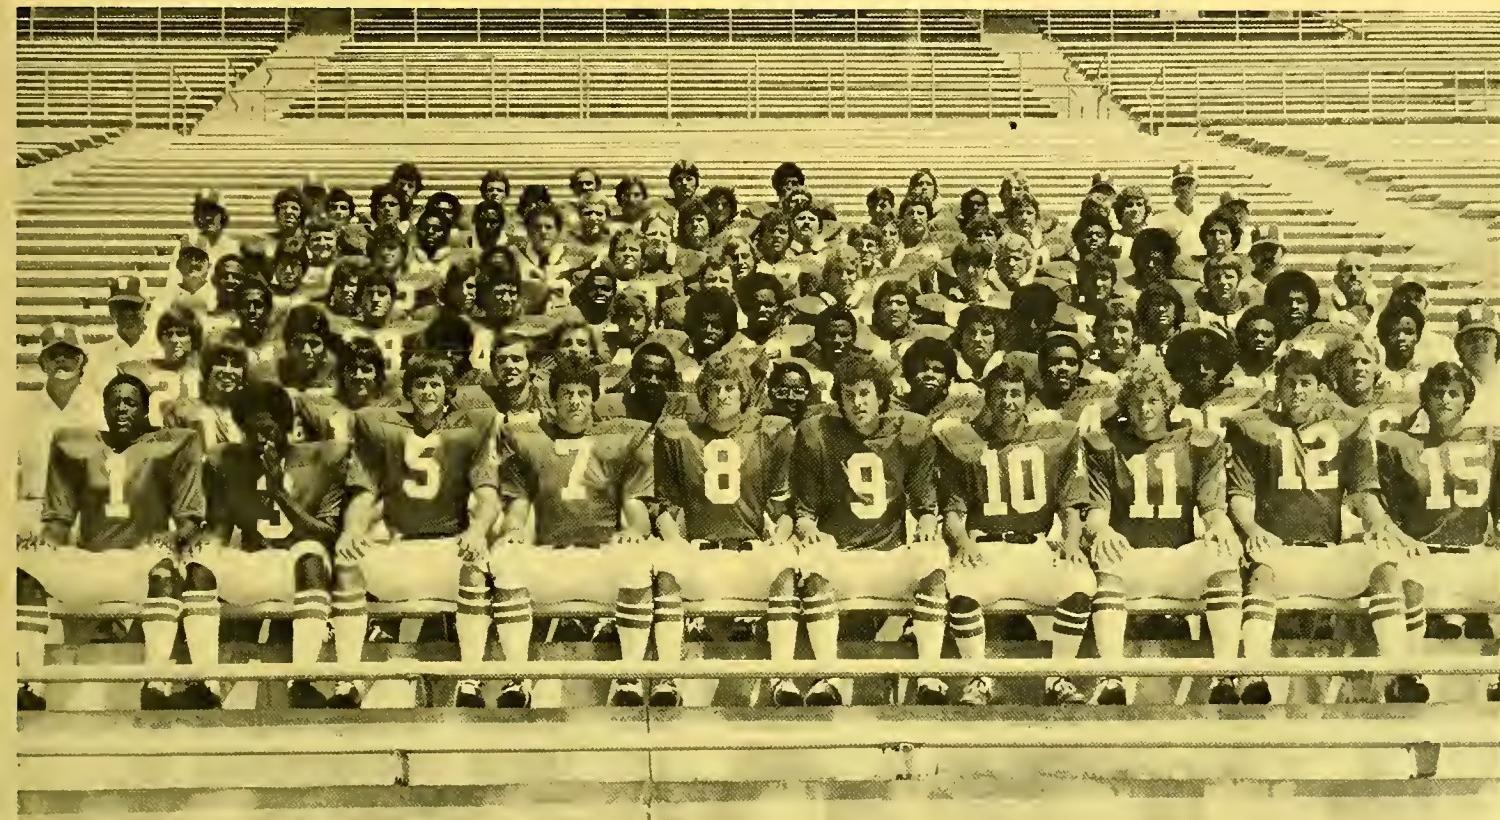

For the record, Jerry Gaines earned nine varsity letters at WCU — four in both football and track and field, and one in baseball. He established ten all-time school records in the categories of pass receiving, kick returns and scoring and was named to the Kodak College Division All-America. In track and field, he broke all WCU records for points scored in a meet, season and career, and was named to the NCAA College Division track and field All-America Squad. He batted .404 for the Catamount baseball team, and was named to the NCAA College Division Baseball All-America.

It was indeed an honor for WCU to announce the retirement of two jerseys worn by him — his track and field jersey — and his football jersey and the number 23.

These are just a few of his accomplishments he made. We want to thank him for a lot of exciting moments.

Cross Country

Western Carolina University's cross country team enjoyed its most successful season in several years this past fall when coach Paul Jones guided his squad to a 7-1-1 record, defeating East Carolina, Georgia State, Berry, Brevard (twice) and Carson-Newman (twice) and tying the powerful North Carolina Track Club team.

WCU also made a good showing in the North Carolina Championship Meet with a fifth place in a thirteen team field.

First Row: Coach Paul Jones, Rick Gehle, Barry Owens, Keith Frisbee, Tim Otten, Kevin Brady. Second Row: Dennis Kasprzyk, John Costello, Allan Sienkiewicz, Mark Caulfield, Scott Caulwell, Gray Knott.

Women's Volleyball

Western Carolina University's volleyball team ended a rebuilding season this year posting a 6-11 record, the first losing campaign in the history of the sport at WCU.

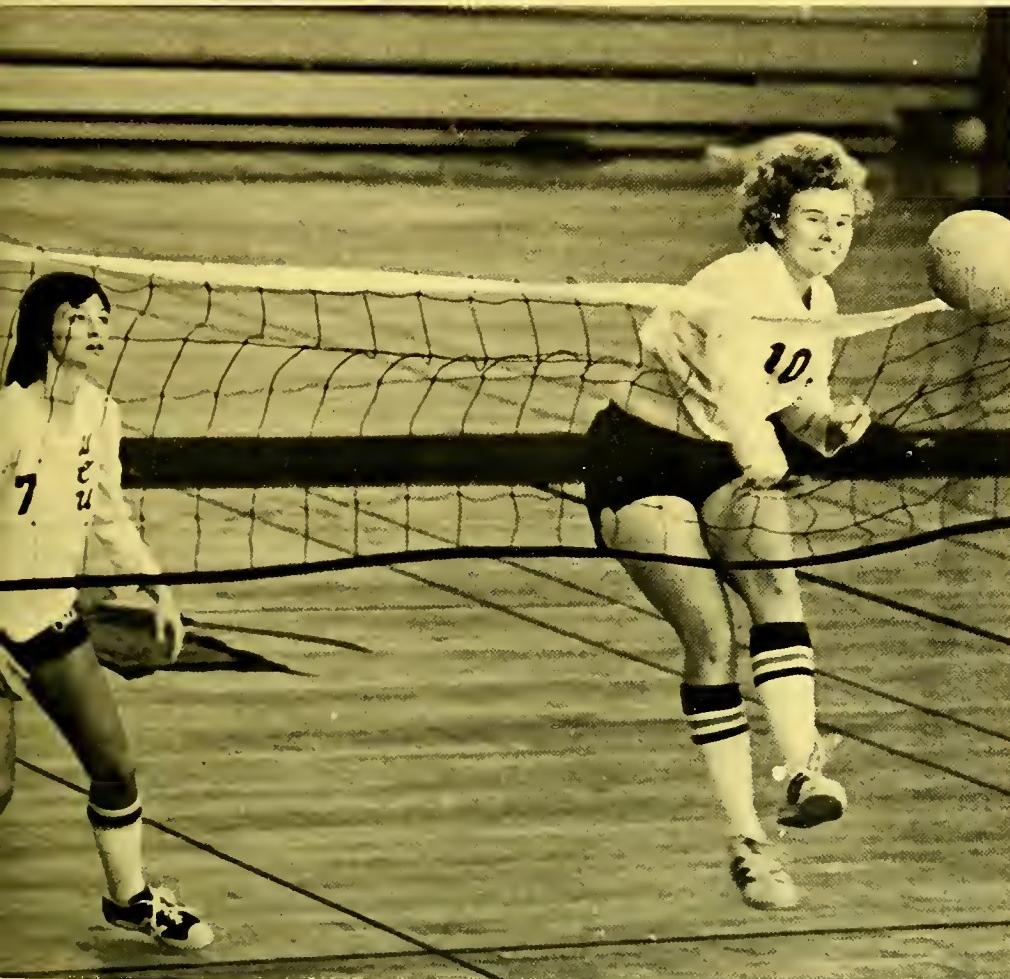

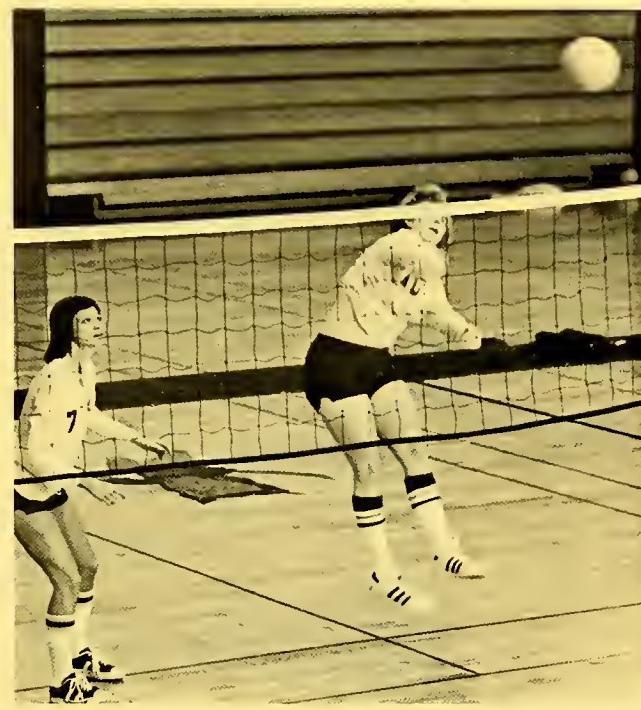

"The competition was extremely good this year, and we should have gotten better as the year went on, but we didn't," Coach Betty Peele explained.

Peele cites the volleyball coverage offered by the mass media through the Olympic Games, the new pro circuit, increased emphasis on the high school level, and the awarding of athletic grant-in-aids for the first time as factors behind the sudden upswing in interest in volleyball on the collegiate level.

Soccer

WCU's soccer team did not regain the prestige it enjoyed earlier this decade, but the '75 unit did make definite progress towards a return to respectability. Included in the 4-7 record were three losses by one goal, losses that could have been turned into victories and a winning season with just a whisper of luck.

The Catamount kickers were only outclassed twice, a pair of 5-0 defeats at the hands of Appalachian State and Warren Wilson. Both of those teams qualified for post-season playoff berths. Another national championship meet participant, Erskine, was the only other opponent to score more than three on WCU.

Four seniors will graduate, but many impressive underclassmen will return for the '76 season.

Basketball
Basketball

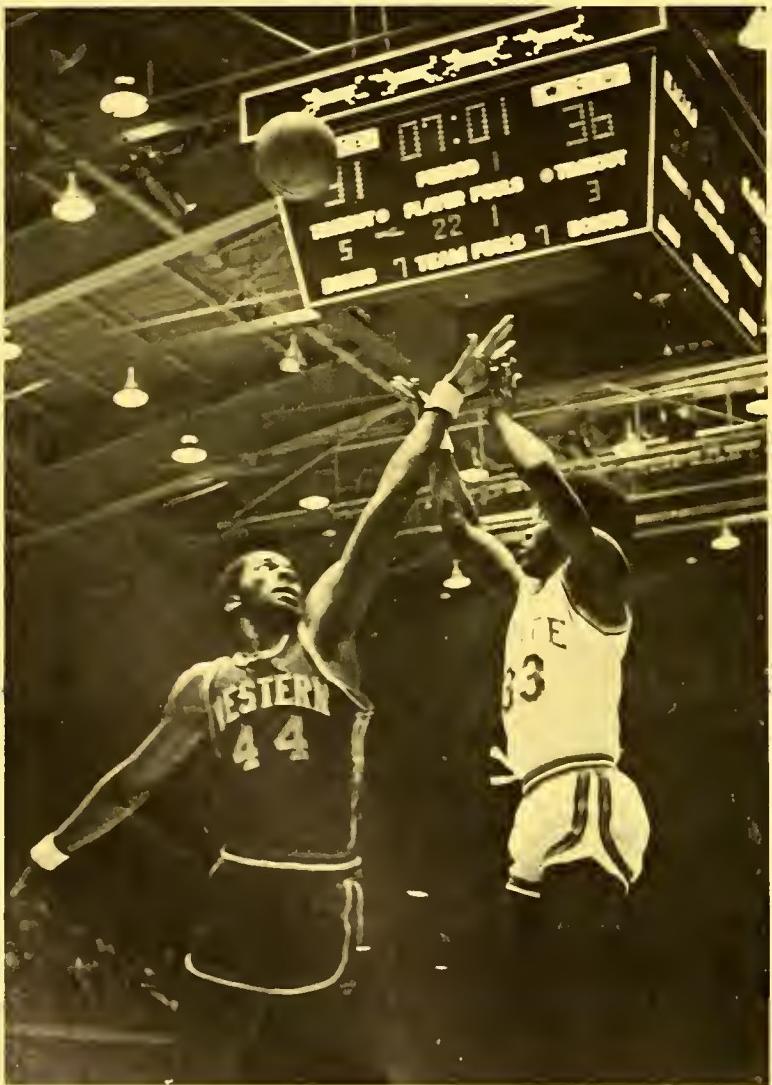

Western Carolina University's basketball team did not win as often as many expected it to this season; but no one can accuse the Catamounts of playing a slow, unexciting, or conservative brand of basketball.

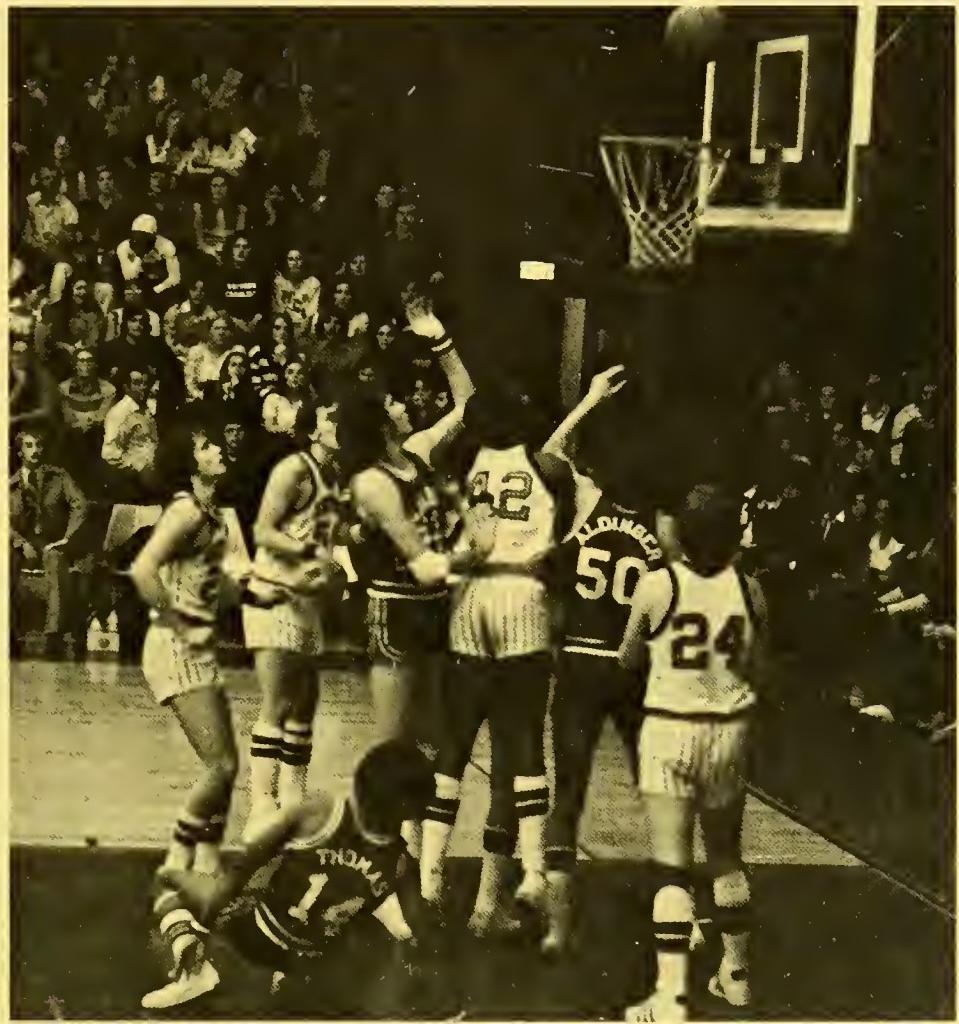

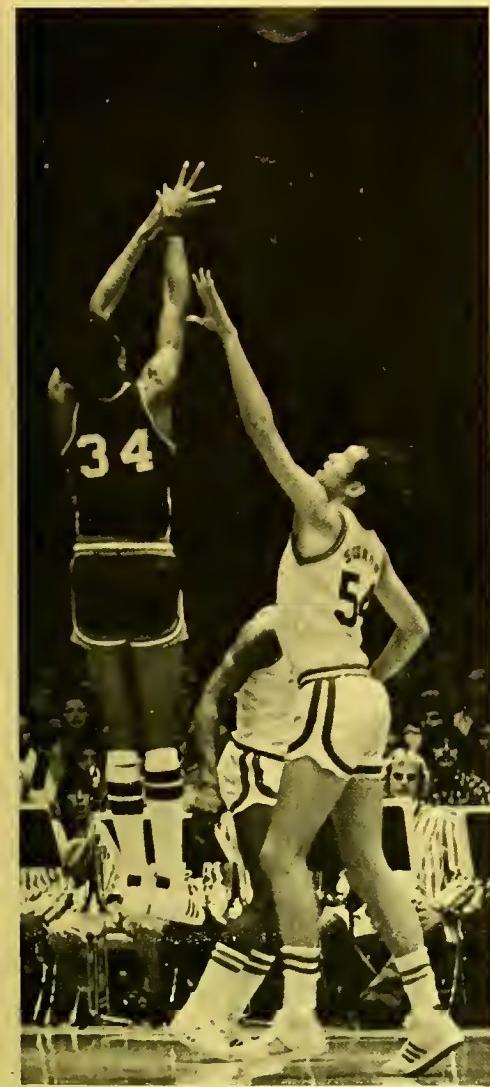

Competition was tough at the beginning of the season, as the Cats fell to the likes of Auburn, UT-Chattanooga, Marshall, N.C. State, Valdosta State and N.C. A & T. All of these teams were undefeated when Western played them, and N.C. State, UT-Chattanooga and A & T went to post season tournaments.

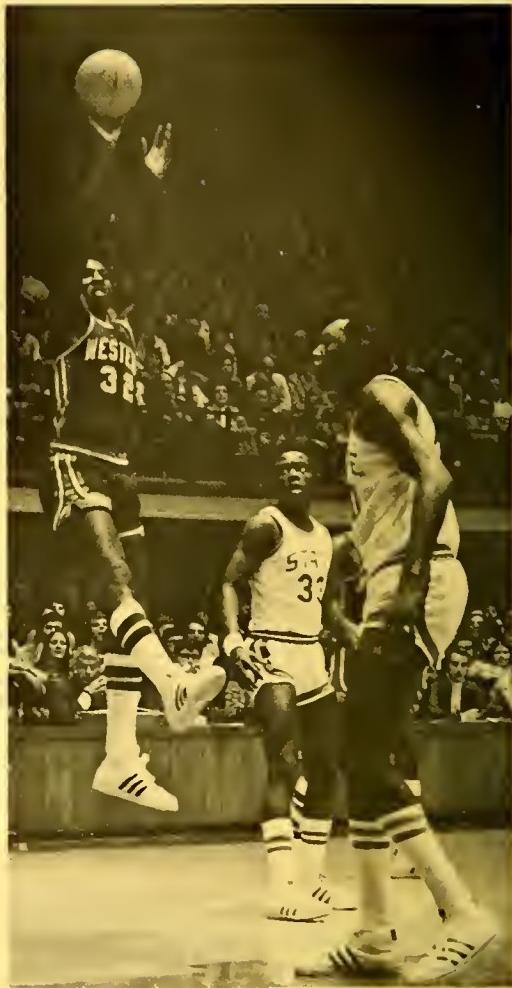

At one point, the Cats stood 7-8 after limited success with their extremely difficult early season schedule. A reassessment by Coach Fred Conley of his playing philosophy resulted in a less patterned form of play, as he turned his team loose to a "run and gun" type of game. With the new form of play, Western won 10 of its last 14 games, including 10 of 11 in one stretch, and finished the season a respectable 13-12.

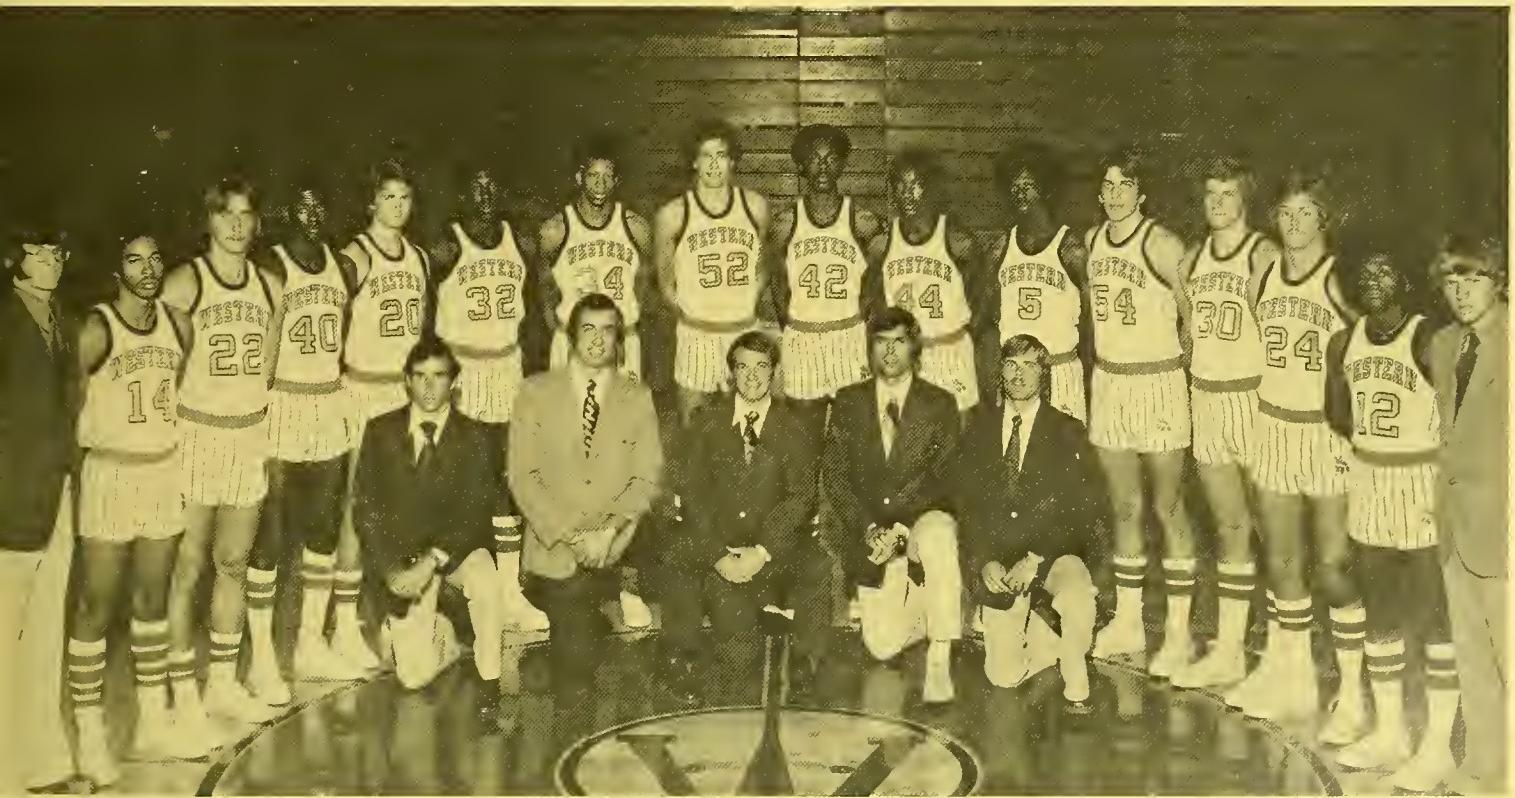

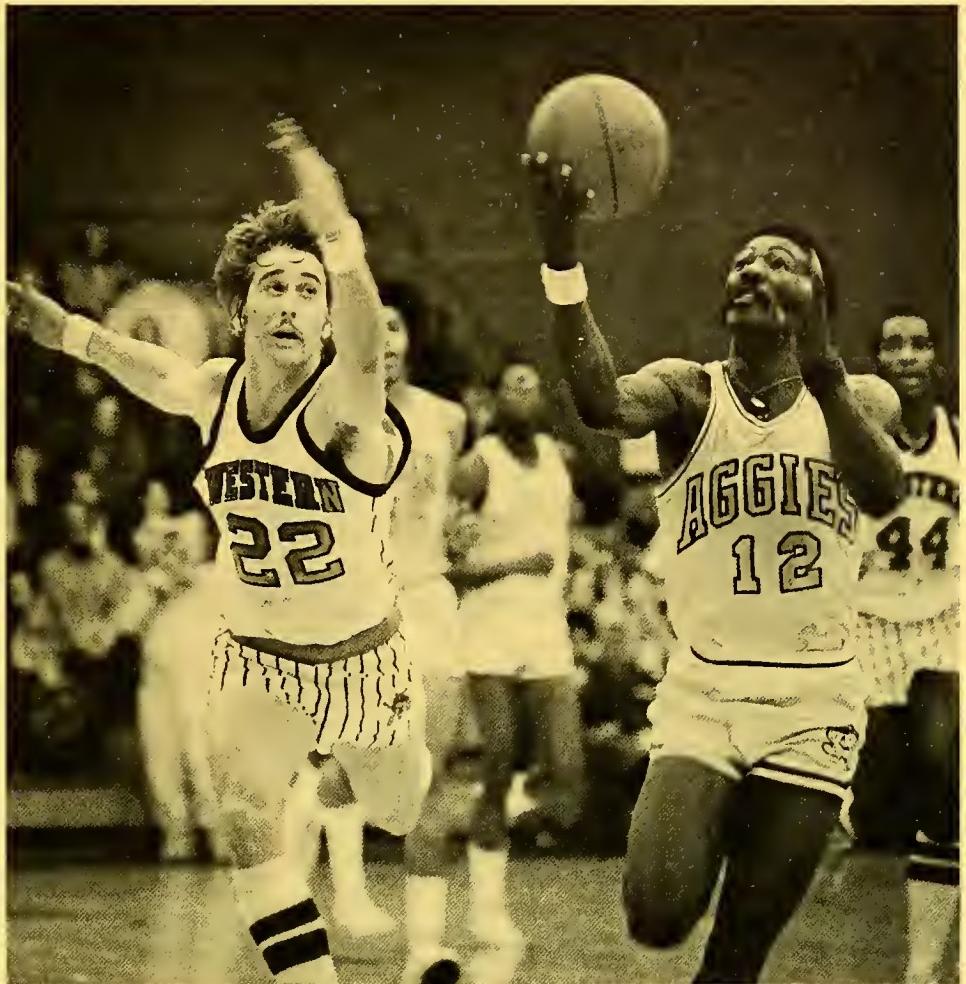

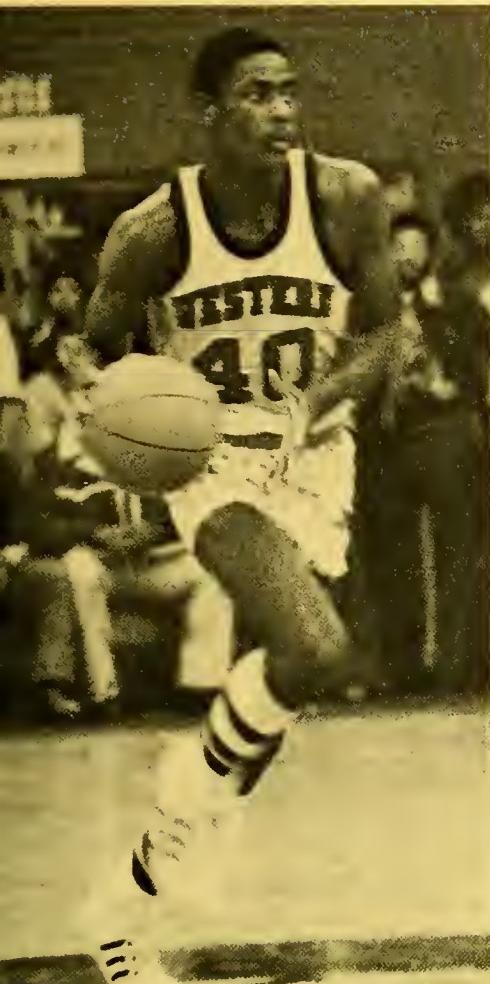

The Catamounts played a very well-balanced offense, with the five regular starters all averaging in double figures, led by senior Mike Meadows' 17.8 points. Ike Mims averaged 17.5 points and led the team with 10.5 rebounds per outing. Lee Gibbs, who served as the team's floor leader averaged 15.6 points and averaged over nine assists per game. Jay Lassiter averaged 13.7 points; while the Cats' defensive ace, Bubba Wilson, scored at a 10.3 point clip.

Women's Basketball

Highlights of Western Carolina University 1976 women's basketball season included hosting the AIAW Southern Region Championship tournament and the naming of two players, Jayne Arledge and Judy Stroud, to the ten-member NCAIAW Division I All-State Basketball team.

With only half of last winter's top eight players returning, Coach Betty Westmoreland guided a largely inexperienced team to a winning season of 13-9 and a tie for second place in the state's division I standings.

Jayne Arledge led Western in scoring with an 18.9 point per game average this season and could become WCU's all-time great women's basketball player if her rookie performance is an indication of things to come. Hopes for an even better season next year rests with returning players Jayne Arledge, Brenda Johnson, Janet White, Brenda Halford, Gail McFalls, Bonnie Granville, and Shirle Hart.

Gymnastics Gymnastics Gymnastics Gymnastics Gymnastics

The 1976 WCU women's gymnastic season was highlighted by its fourth straight state championship and fifth place finish in the AIAW Southern Regional Meet at Memphis, Tennessee.

Led by senior Susan Bulloch, Coach Susan Fields' team posted a 10-1-1 record this season with wins over Eastern Kentucky, Duke, East Carolina, Tennessee, and UNC-Chapel Hill. WCU was tied by Appalachian State in regular season, and its only loss was to powerful Louisville, the Regional Champion.

Miss Bulloch turned in a brilliant performance at the state meet, as she took first place in all four events — vaulting, uneven parallel bars, balance beam and floor exercises — and won Best All-Around honors for the third time in four years. Freshman Martha Benedict finished sixth overall, senior Cindy Nybro was seventh, and another freshman, Kathy Humphreys was eighth. Miss Bulloch went on to finish fifth in regional competition and advance to the national championship meet where she was North Carolina's only representative.

Although she loses Bulloch and Nybro, Coach Fields has high hopes for next year based on this year's strong performances from her rookie trio of Benedict, Humphreys, and Julie Gallagher.

After losing more than half of the starters from his outstanding 1975 team, Coach Bill Haywood did not know what to expect from the young 1976 squad. Haywood's Cats, 16-15 for the season, defeated Furman, the Southern Conference champion; took three of four games from UNC-W; downed nationally ranked Slippery Rock State; and outscored Fairfield, a New England power. However, they lost to such lesser names as Salem, Baptist, Mars Hill and East Tennessee. It was that kind of season — some unexpected wins and some disappointing losses.

The Catamounts were unpredictable, but exciting. They scored more runs (190) than any team in WCU's baseball history. Flip Watson, a senior righthander, claimed the top individual honor as he led the nation (NCAA Division II) in strikeouts per nine innings pitched (13.6) and a 1.47 ERA. Two other pitchers also had good seasons, as senior Mike Hicks posted a 6-3 record and junior Jerry Reed finished 4-4 with a 2.02 ERA. On the offensive side, seven hitters finished the season with a .300 or better batting average. Infielder Dennis Blake topped the batters with a .382 mark. The team's most valuable player was first baseman/designated hitter Buddy Fox. He hit at a .300 clip, established a new single season rbi record (29) and led the team in seven offensive categories.

Eight school records fell last spring as Western Carolina's track and field team compiled a 34-9 record in overall team competition. The season was highlighted by the performance of the 440-yard relay team that seemed to break its own record each week of the spring. The team of Levon Wilson, Eugene Collins, Jerry Siler and Clifford Surratt finished the season as one of the nation's fastest with a best time of :41.1. The 440 unit along with distance runner Dennis Kasprzyk, hurdler John Arnold and long-jumper Eugene Collins qualified for the NCAA Division II Championship meet.

Coach Paul Jones' team ran in only one dual meet and defeated arch rival Appalachian State in that confrontation. The Cats also finished second in a field of 16 teams at the WCU Relays; sixth among 24 teams at the Davidson Relays; and participated in such prestigious relay events as the Florida Relays, East Coast Relays and the Tom Black Classic.

Kasprzyk, a sophomore, established three new records — the three-mile run, the six-mile run, and the 10,000 meters. The other individual record setters were Surratt in the 440 (:48.4); Ken Martin in the shot put (47'10"); and Dexter Burns in the discus (149'10").

Golf Golf Golf Golf Golf Golf Golf Golf

David Roper provided the leadership as Western Carolina University's golf team posted a 13-8 record last spring — its second straight winning season in a row. Roper, a senior from Winston-Salem, was the medalist in 12 of Western's 21 matches and was selected as the team's most valuable performer for the second straight year.

Key victories came over LaSalle College, Carson-Newman College and Davidson College. Coach Don Dalton's linksters also participated in the Tennessee Tech and Eastern Kentucky Invitational meets against many of the South's finest squads.

First Row: Hank Komodowski, Clyde Justice, Joey Wilson, and Scott Payne.

Men's Tennis

Western Carolina's men's tennis team completed the 1976 season with a 6-6 record. Their schedule included such tennis powers as East Stroudsburg, Carson-Newman, and East Tennessee.

The team was led by seniors Joe Clark and Johnny McCoy, seeded one and two respectively. Many of the team members were freshmen, and Coach Randy Gibson will have seven returning lettermen for the 1977 season.

Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team expanded their schedule this year and completed it with a 5-5 record. They played matches against such strong teams as Tennessee and Appalachian State.

With seven returning lettermen, the team was led by Anna Bolick (#1) and Patty Wilson (#2). Coach Betty Peele can expect strong future showings from underclassmen Kathy Quinn, Connie Styles, Patty Wilson, Julie Cushman, and Susie La-Motte.

— STUDENT —

At Western, a student does not have to be a varsity athlete to participate in sports. WCU offers each student the opportunity to play and compete in a variety of athletic activities.

- SPORTS -

The most important program is the Intramural Sports Program presented by the Health and Physical Education Department. It is funded by student fees and is directed towards the entire student body. The program has several objectives; and through the efforts of Mike Creason and his staff, these objectives are being met. An intramural program provides the opportunity for a student to participate in wholesome recreation. One does not have to be a great athlete, just have a desire to play.

Western's program has grown and is enjoying greater participation than ever before. As a result, it is used to recruit new students. However, the facilities have not kept up with this growth and are presently inadequate. It is quite a job scheduling teams and determining a winner on the playing fields available.

The importance of the intramural program is evident, and it will continue to meet the student's needs. Student sports subject students to group spirit, enthusiasm, and loyalty, and provide opportunities for development of leadership qualities.

-INTRAMURALS-

Participation in fall intramurals increased this year compared to 1974. The number of women participating more than doubled. Fall intramural sports included volleyball, football, floopball and individual sports.

-SKI-----SWIM-

Although not considered varsity sports yet, the swim team and ski club compete. Their main basis is simply an interest in the sport.

TKE BOXING

One of the most highly anticipated sporting events on campus is the Tau Kappa Epsilon Boxing Matches. The matches are held semi-quarterly as a fund-raising project of the TKE Fraternity.

Students compete for trophies in each of nine weight divisions. Any student is eligible to display their boxing skills in the competitive events. There is also opportunity for "grudge matches" without regard to weight restrictions. There are elimination bouts leading to a championship fight in each weight class. The officiating and judging is done by knowledgeable coaches and men of the community. The Most Outstanding Boxer, selected by these officials, receives a special award.

—CLUB FOOTBALL—

Club Football was started at Western by a student, John Poe, as an answer to the gap between intramural and varsity football. With special help from Athletic Director, Bob Waters; Sports Information Director, Steve White; and trainer, Lloyd Wilkes the "Club Cats" became a reality.

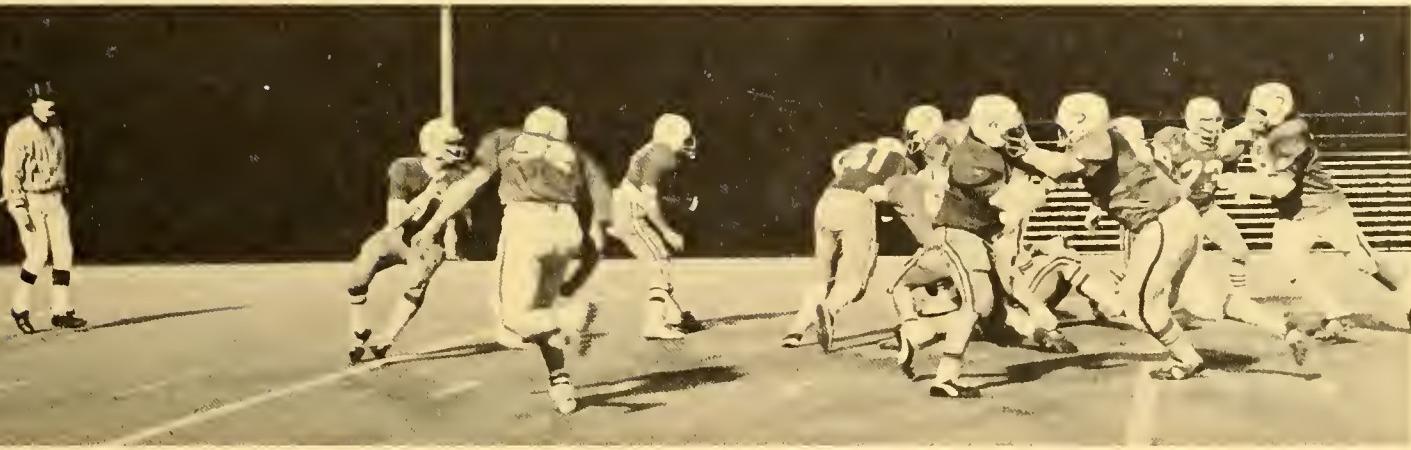

Their competition included teams from Duke, Virginia Commonwealth, Carolina, N.C. State, and Davidson. A season of 4-1-1 earned the "Club Cats" the Western Conference title, plus the chance to play the Eastern Conference Champ, N.C. State, for the NCCFA Title. State won 29-0.

In addition to the main fall season, the "Club Cats" offer a shortened spring season. This can be used by interested students to get a taste of what they can expect from the more extended fall season.

—FLOOPBALL?—

Yes, Floopball. The game was developed by Mike Creason, Director of Intramurals, to replace tag football for girls in the intramural program. Girls practice skills with a round ball, and they have the opportunity to score a lot. It requires a nine-member team and quite a bit of strategy is involved.

This year a clinic was held to let participants become familiar with the rules. Participation in floopball doubled previous participation in tag football. There were some close and exciting games. The game will be included in the intramural program again next fall. In fact, floopball might even spread out of Cullowhee. Mike Creason has been asked to present the game at the Intramural State Convention. He is revising the rules and believes the game has real potential.

—STUDENT—

The driveway beside Bird Building has become the playing field for skateboard enthusiasts. And the ever-popular frisbee can be seen all over campus.

Student sports doesn't always mean competition, at least not with other people. Competition can be with oneself — striving to do better and reaching a goal you have set for yourself.

On October 25, everyone got together at E.J. Whitmire Stadium to celebrate Mountain Heritage Day.

This festival was like the kind of mountain celebration folks used to have, where everyone would come down out of their coves to some central place for an all-day get-together.

The first event of the day was a dog show. Classes included the largest dog, smallest dog, ugliest dog, prettiest dog, look-alikes (dog and owner), performance (tricks or obedience), best looking hunting dog, and best in show.

The main festivities began at 1 p.m. in the stadium parking lot with the the Recreation Club, and included horse-shoes, tobacco spitting, cross-cut sawing, and egg throwing.

A horse-drawn hayride operated during the afternoon, and a turkey shoot was held for both shotguns and muzzle loaders under the sponsorship of the WCU Volunteer Fire Department.

That afternoon, WCU held a formal Founders Day program in the stadium, honoring the administrations of W.E. Bird and Paul Reid. The program included a "Hallways of Time" display in nearby Belk Building.

The program for the evening included music by Marc Pruett and his band, dance exhibitions by several local clogging and square dance teams, and square dancing for one and all called by Bill McIntyre of Hendersonville.

Buying soap at a store is something most of us take for granted. But, most of our grandmothers will probably be able to remember making soap at home.

The ingredients are:

Ashes — Hickory ashes were preferred

Water

Grease — any kind of grease would do

A hopper is a wooden structure that is shaped like a cradle. The inside of the hopper is covered with straw. Below the hopper is a wooden trough. A jar is placed at the end of the trough.

The first step your grandmother took when making her soap was to build a fire under the hopper. Then she put her ashes into the hopper and poured water over them.

This caused the ashes and water to mix together and drip into the trough. The mixture, then ran into the jar. The mixture was the lye.

When she had made about a gallon of lye, she poured it into a large pot and added her grease. She would let this boil until it got thick like jelly. Then, she would pour the jellied soap into a pan until it hardened. When the soap had hardened, she would cut it into bars.

A corn shucking was one way a mountaineer turned work into fun. After a farmer had harvested his fields of corn, he would pile it high in a barn or some other covered shelter. People were invited from miles away to help shuck the corn.

At first, the boys would shuck the hardest, because the one who found the first red ear of corn could kiss the prettiest girl at the shucking.

The Farmer whose corn was being shucked, usually put a half of a gallon or a gallon of liquor on the bottom of the pile of corn. When all the corn was shucked, everyone who had helped, and was of age, had some of the liquor. Then, everyone was invited to dance and drink for the rest of the night.

Repairing, rebuilding, or building barns was a task the mountaineer turned into fun. If a mountaineer decided to build a new barn, he would get all the logs and nails. Then, he would ask people to come "raise" the barn. There would be jobs for everyone. Some would carry the logs, some would put the logs in place, and others would nail the logs together.

While the men built the barn, the women were busy quilting and fixing dinner.

If, at the end of the day the barn wasn't finished, the men would cover it and begin again the next morning.

That night, there would be a big supper and dance for those who helped.

I can barely remember seeing my grandmother churn butter. The summer air would be stifling with humidity and you could hear the flies and the bees buzzing around outside.

The churn was made of pale blue-green stoneware. A dasher was placed inside of it. It looked like a cross lying on its back with a short broomstick stuck in the middle of it. Then a lid was placed on the jar which had a hole for the broomstick.

Grandmother would sit and churn for what seemed like hours. Every now and then she would stop, lift the lid, and check to see if the butter was sticking together. Then she would lift out the chunks of butter and let them drain. When they had drained long enough, she poured cold water on them and molded them into the shape of a small loaf of bread.

WHO'S WHO

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities is a nationally recognized honor. Selection begins with nominations by students and faculty. Nominees prepare an evaluation sheet with numerical values assigned to academic standing, extra-curricular activities and honors. A committee of students and faculty then makes the selection for recommendation to the national office.

Graduation 1976

The last steps toward graduation began with rehearsal where Seniors received final grades. Afterwards, a dinner in Brown cafeteria recognized honor graduates and the marshals. Sunday morning, Chancellor Robinson had a breakfast in Dodson for all graduates and their parents.

The mountains and blue sky set the stage as degrees were conferred on 915 graduates in Whitmire Stadium. The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Sidney P. Marland, Jr., president of the College Entrance Examination Board. He urged the graduating class to resist the temptation of cynicism and to choose to become "advocates of America."

Hidden away on the third floor of Joyner, the Catamount Office is unknown to most students. It is where the yearbook is created through the combined efforts of a few people.

We want to thank the staff, the photographers, and also Harry Duke, Public Relations Photographer; Steve White, Sports Information Director; and Al Dexter, WCU's American Yearbook Representative. These people made our job easier and we were glad to have the opportunity to work with them.
